

ENTHUSIASTIC ARE LOCAL BOOSTERS OVER CHANCE FOR PLANT

Friday Night's Mass Meeting Names Committee to Select Men to Place Maysville Before Officials of Andrews Steel Company.

The mass meeting held at the City Council Chamber Friday evening in the interest of bringing the Andrews Steel Company's plants to Maysville, was a very interesting one and although short it accomplished its purpose.

The meeting was called by Mr. Sherman and Hon. Stanley F. Reed was chosen chairman. Mr. Reed stated the purpose of the meeting and Mr. Arn read a letter he recently received from the president of the big Andrews plant.

Mr. Smith, one of the traffic experts of the C. & O. railroad was in attendance and he was called upon to give the meeting some information in regard to the freight tariffs on inbound and outbound freight from Maysville as would apply to the steel plant. Mr. Smith explained that he was unable to give any definite information as the company did not state the various destinations or shipping points but he assured the meeting that the C. & O. railroad was interested in keeping the plant on the line of the C. & O. and that adjustments of freight rates would be made that would not discriminate against Maysville and he gave it as his opinion that the company could get practically the same rates in Maysville as they are now getting in Newport.

Mr. Ellis, local L. & N. agent, and Hon. A. D. Cole, local counsel for that road, assured the meeting that they had tried to get information from their company for the meeting but had been unable to do so on short notice. They assured the meeting, however, that the L. & N. would do as much as the C. & O. road.

Dr. John J. P. Perry, rector of the Church of the Nativity, made a very interesting talk pleading for the hearty co-operation of all Maysvillians. Upon motion Messrs. N. S. Calhoun, F. T. Kirk and C. L. Wood were named a committee to select a committee of business men to visit the officials of the Andrews Steel Company, learn their requirements as to location, etc., and see how near Maysville could meet the necessary requirements.

The Globe special measure man will be with us on February 27th and 28th with the new spring samples. Have your suit made to measure. George H. Frank & Co. 14Feb10t

WASHINGTON TEA PARTY QUITE A SUCCESS.

The Washington Tea Party, given by the Parent Teacher Association of the First District School Friday afternoon was a most enjoyable affair. A splendid crowd was present and an excellent program was rendered. The patriotic exercises, given by the pupils of Miss Debold's room, were very interesting and well rendered. Little Thomas Neal made quite a hit when he delivered his "oration" on Abraham Lincoln. Following this Judge H. C. Curran made a splendid and very impressive address on "Washington," which was greatly enjoyed. A beautiful collection of cups and saucers, almost five dozen in number, were received as donations to the school. Refreshments consisting of tea and wafers were served. All of the rooms were beautifully and artistically decorated in red, white and blue for the occasion. It was decidedly one of the best meetings ever held at First District.

ROAD BOND ADVOCATES LOSE FIRST SENATE FIGHT

Supremacy of Rules Committee Emphasized By Contest on Road Bond Bill.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 17. — The approaching supremacy of the Rules Committee was emphasized in the State Senate today as road bond issue advocates lost their first fight by a vote of 19 to 17.

Representative Harry Meyers of Covington brought the House bond issue bill to the Senate Chamber. Senator Frank E. Daugherty of Nelson county, ranking member, requested the chair to refer the measure to the Rules Committee.

Lieut. Gov. S. Thurston Ballard said that he already had been asked to refer the measure to the Judiciary Committee, of which Senator White Moss of Pineville, bond issue leader, is chairman.

Mr. Moss moved that the bill be delivered at once to his committee.

Senator W. A. Perry of Louisville, chairman of the Rules Committee, called attention to the rule that the bill would have to be printed first.

Senator Hiram M. Brock of Harlan inquired whether similar procedure had been followed on the Bingham Co-operative Marketing Act. Senator Newton Bright of Henry County told Mr. Brock that the Bingham bill had been printed in advance and had followed every step in the routine of passage.

WOMAN SHOOTS HUSBAND AS HE SLEPT EARLY TODAY

Young Wife, Thought To Be Mentally Unbalanced, Shot Her Husband, a Veteran of World War, As He Slept.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 18. — Asserting amid sobs that she was sorry, Mrs. Virgie Shelton, 23, of 2307 May street, Walnut Hills, admitted shooting her husband as he lay asleep in bed in their third-floor apartments Saturday, according to police.

The husband—Walter Shelton, 24, former soldier, now a Federal Board student—is reported in a serious condition at General Hospital with a bullet wound in his right temple.

Mrs. Shelton, police were told, was under observation at the hospital recently for a mental ailment. Ten weeks ago her baby, newly born, died, and later she suffered an attack of influenza, Edward L. Brose and Alfred Werner, patrolmen were informed.

Mrs. Shelton told police, they say, she took a loaded revolver from a trunk in the room of Silvia De Nuncio, a relative, whose room adjoins the Sheltons' flat. She entered without De Nuncio's knowledge, police say.

"I thought I was going to die," she alleged to have said when policemen questioned her after the shooting, "and I wanted my husband to go with me."

She recalled, according to the officers, that she attempted suicide several weeks ago and had cautioned her husband to remove the temptation by getting rid of any weapon around the house.

HUSBAND RAN AWAY WITH ANOTHER WOMAN, WIFE SAYS.

Mrs. Ima Mae Kellein brought suit Saturday asking an absolute divorce from her husband, Karl Kellein. She asks a divorce, alimony in the sum of $500 and costs.

QUEEN CITY HEAVILY LOADED FOR TRIP

Large Cargo of Freight Besides Big Passenger List Leaves Cincinnati Monday.

What is said to be the largest cargo carried on an Ohio River steamer in twenty-five years will leave Cincinnati Monday morning on the steamer Queen City. The full cargo of the boat will approximate 800 tons and will include the equivalent of two carloads of bathtubs, eight carloads of soap, five carloads of baking powder, two carloads of pianos, several carloads of paper and a large amount of miscellaneous freight. The greater part of the freight is consigned to New Orleans, with three of the larger consignments to be transhipped at that port for the Pacific Coast. Some of the freight has been brought here from Pittsburgh by river and will be sent on down stream aboard the Queen City.

The boat will arrive in New Orleans for the opening of the annual Mardi Gras celebration in that city. The passenger list is unusually large, practically all the staterooms, including those in the upper cabin, or "texas," being engaged. Special parties from Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Columbus have arranged booking aboard the steamer, in addition to those from Cincinnati.

Captain Henry McClannahan, of this city as Chief Engineer, will have charge of the engines on the Queen City. Messrs. W. H. Farwick and Alton Schatzmann will be among the passengers.

FREIGHT DERAILMENT DELAYS C. & O. TRAFFIC.

The derailment of three cars in an east bound freight train at a point near the foot of Sutton street early Friday evening, delayed traffic on the C. & O. quite a while. The derailed cars were so badly buckled that they were rolled over the river bank and burned. Fortunately no member of the train's crew was injured in the wreck.

NEW REVOLT IN MEXICO FEARED SAYS JUAREZ REPORT

Serious Uprising Against Obregon Is Now Feared in Mexico—Border Troops Are Being Prepared To Protect U. S.

Washington, Feb. 17. — Government advices received today from the Mexican border and points beyond the line indicated that the Obregon government regarded with some apprehension signs of incipient revolutionary movements, particularly near the border. Just what information the Mexican authorities possessed as to the extent of the state and war departments; but it is known that this attitude among some Obregon leaders has been noted by American observers ever in Mexico City.

The reports reaching Washington from the El Paso region, while unofficial, show clearly that the Juarez situation is full of uncertainty. Mexican officers are said to have disclosed their feeling that an uprising against the Mexican government is impending.

American advices, so far as is known, contain nothing to confirm this belief gained from any independent source, though it was pointed out today that the precautionary measures taken by Brigadier General Howze in holding his two cavalry regiments on the post at Fort Bliss night before last in readiness to prevent firing into American territory, indicated American officers shared the expectation of the Mexican federal commanders that an outbreak was coming.

CROWNED WITH SUCCESS

The great work which the Washington conference has done has been done so smoothly and steadily that no opening has been left for a spectacular curtain climax. The sophisticated critics have been making the most of this non-dramatic ending. It is the only morsel of disappointment which they can roll under their tongues. They seem to find relief in contrasting this gathering, which end in good temper and quiet satisfaction, having made a contribution to world peace which everyone accepts, with the peace conference at Paris, which closed tumultuously in passion and bitterness of spirit, and whose work many of those who figured in it have since been noisily engaged in tearing down.

The Washington conference was dominated by a will to agree. Its first moment was its most dramatic moment, for the first session demonstrated to a world which the experiences at Paris had made skeptical that a broad basis of understanding could be reached. The conference was to prove the possibility of open international agreements openly arrived at, and also lasting in character because they represented solutions appealing to the good will and sober reason of all the signatories.

The many "true stories" of what happened in the shadows at Paris were mostly revelations of haphazard, capricious judgments, personal antagonisms and underground intrigues. There was no unity of purpose at the peace conference, no real meeting of national minds and desires. Fewer stories of what happened behind the scenes at Washington will be salable. The public already knows what happened. There is an immediate and logical relation between the discussions, as summarized in the communiques, and the finished treaties.

The conference has accomplished a great deal more than any well-informed observer expected of it. It has produced a firm accord in the Pacific, which is its greatest contribution to world peace. It has brought about a sweeping limitation of offensive naval armament. It has restored the German Shantung concessions to China—something which the Paris conference confessed its impotency to do. It has gone far on the road to the complete recognition of China's territorial integrity and political independence. It has translated from word into facts the American program for the restoration of Chinese sovereignty, which we, as a single, isolated nation, had never before been able to fortify by anything but a moral declaration and pious wish.

To those to whom international gatherings have always the aspect of horse trades, poker games or rought and tumble diplomatic bouts, the Washington conference has been colorless and therefore unsatisfying. But in the way of pacification, eliminating causes of international discord, emphasizing common world interests and bringing nations into closer and friendlier relations, it has been an extraordinary success.—The New York Tribune.

WHY MR. GOMPERS PRAISES THE INJUNCTION.

Mr. Gompers has written more fairly, although not without bias, in the American Federationist on the subject of injunctions than could have been suspected from his oral pyrotechnics on the same subject.

He is wholly right in his declaration that the injunction is not a measure of just law when it prevents a citizens from doing a thing which is his constitutional right, nor when it commands him to do that which he has a constitutional right to refrain from doing. If the president of the American Federation of Labor will but confine his future considerations of court injunctions to those phases, he will find lovers of liberty everywhere standing with him.

But Mr. Gompers has not always planted his feet on the secure ground of Federal constitution in attacking particular writs of injunction. More than once his assaults have been based on the allegation that courts and laws were wrong, which implied, too, a lack of integrity on the part of the Federal constitution.

Mr. Gompers' milder utterances on this subject result from the granting by Justice Wagner in New York of an injunction against employers engaged in an undertaking to violate a formal agreement with their workers. Labor was fully protected in this action of the court—the very power against which the president of the American Federation of Labor had so frequently inveighed became the workman's sure and sole defense in a time of vital need.

The la wis labor's best weapon of offense and defense. It is a pity that the workingman has been so long learning this truth. He can blame his leaders for his slowness in arriving at the plain fact of the matter. Could all laws be nullified today labor would drop back into a condition from which it has taken centuries to arise. Let the toiler take more careful heed of the fighting equipment the law provides for his every proper need.—St. Louis Times.

INDUSTRIAL MOBILIZATION

Under Secretary Weeks' administration, Assistant Secretary Wainwright has been assigned to the great problem of industrial preparedness. This is made plain in the secretary's letter to the senate and house military committees. In this the secretary not only is carrying out the letter but the spirit of the army reorganization act of 1920.

Without any great expenditure of money Assistant Secretary of War Wainwright is preparing plans for industrial mobilization which, in the event of war, would save hundreds of millions of dollars, and, as the secretary declares, would "prevent much of the economic disturbance attendant on the last war." The failure to pursue such a policy in the past is responsible for no small portion of the war taxes which are now depressing business.

The task of keeping the country industrially prepared for defense is a never ending one. With the changing industrial conditions and the improvements in the implements of warfare, the assistant secretary of war will be required to make periodical surveys and revise the industrial mobilization plans of the war department accordingly.—Army and Navy Journal.

The skipper and crew of a yacht off Cape Charles were flung overboard by a wave the other night and immediately returned to the deck by another, but the Honorable James M. Cox and his crew of the tempest-tossed ship Democracy, who are looking forward hopefully to the November elections, should understand that this sort of thing very seldom happens.—Providence Journal.

CHANGE OF LIFE
WOMAN'S TRIAL

Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time, when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicines."—Mrs. EMMA CULVER, 705 E. 7th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Nervousness, irritability, heat flashes, headache and dizziness, are relieved by this splendid medicine.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C.—That the United States should not participate in the proposed Genoa Conference if delegates are present representing the Bolshevik Government of Russia is urged by Professor Paul N. Milukov, former Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Russian Provisional Government. This spokesman of a portion of the people of Russia asserts that one purpose of the conference is to make the United States a burden bearer for the Bolsheviks and that the ultimate restoration of normal conditions in that country will be delayed by giving the Bolshevik regime the recognition incident to admitting its representatives to an international conference. He advocates continuance of the policy stated in Secretary Hughes' note of March 25, 1921. In his presentation of the subject Professor Milukov says:

"The Bolshevik rule is nearing its logical end. The material resources upon which it rested are near exhaustion. The gold reserve in Bolshevik possession is down to almost nil, and they are unable, therefore, to get from abroad the supplies necessary for the support of their Communist Party, the Bolshevik bureaucracy and the Red Army. At the same time, Russia, including the villages, is in a state of starvation and famine, and the Bolsheviks are unable to get supplies from the peasants. Therefore, they are badly in need of a loan. The loan they ask for is needed for the upkeep of their decaying machinery of domination. Continuation in power is the Bolsheviks' only aim.

"It is clear that Russia's return to productivity is indispensable for the reestablishment of normal economic conditions in Europe and throughout the world. At the same time, the minimum reforms required to make Russia's return to productivity possible is the reestablishment of personal security and legal order, which would safeguard human lives and property in Russia. In the absence of these prerequisites, none of the elements of Russia's national economy can be restored; neither agriculture, nor industry, nor commerce, nor the balance of trade, nor a sound currency, nor a budget. Under the Bolshevik rule Russia will continue in a state of economic disintegration, sinking lower and lower. The famine, which has set in practically as early as 1919, will become chronic.

"The real solution of the problem lies in the confirmation of the just and democratic American policy towards Russia, as expressed in Secretary Colby's note of August 10, 1920, and Secretary Hughes' note of March 25, 1921. We, Russian democrats, appeal to America that this policy of friendship for the Russian people and of an uncompromising attitude towards Bolshevism should be continued. If the Bolsheviks are anxious for intercourse with the civilized world, the democratic nations should present to them the following conditions as a preliminary to any conference: 1. The Bolsheviks must agree to an immediate abolition of terror and of the notorious 'Extraordinary Commission'; 2. Political freedom (freedom of speech, press and assembly) must be reestablished in Russia; and 3. The Bolsheviks must agree to immediate free elections to a really representative assembly.

"The Russian democrats will not cease to protest against any international measure which tends to strengthen morally and materially the government which is not recognized by the Russian people and whose policy perpetuates the state of starvation in Russia. Ignorance alone, or a hidden sympathy with the Bolshevik experiment, can dictate the policy which would give a new lease of life to the dying Bolshevik regime."

WITNESS IN DIVORCE
KILLED ON STAND

Wealthy Somerset Land Owner Is Killed by Defendant on Witness Stand When Being Questioned.

Somerset, Ky., Feb. 17.—A. H. Wilson, 46 years old, a wealthy land owner, was shot and killed here Thursday by John F. Todd, 42 years old, a farmer, while Wilson was testifying in the divorce suit of Todd's wife.

Wilson had been named co-respondent by Todd in a cross-petition. Todd, his wife and attorneys were in the office of Judge William Catron, attorney for Mrs. Todd, during the taking of depositions. Wilson was being examined by Judge Catron.

"Were you ever intimate with Mrs. Todd?" the witness was asked.

"Absolutely no; it's a lie as black as ever told!"

The words hardly had been spoken when Todd rose from his seat, drew a revolver from his pocket and fired four times at Wilson, a few feet away. Three of the shots took effect. Wilson lived only a few minutes and died without making a statement.

Todd, showing no emotion and without a word of comment, surrendered his gun to a lawyer and was escorted to jail. Mrs. Todd fainted.

The killing was the sequel to the filing of a divorce suit by Mrs. Todd several months ago. The Todds, with their three children, living adjoining an estate owned by Wilson. The latter did not live on this farm, his residence being on his fine country place at the outskirts of Somerset.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, designed to prevent depredations against stored liquors.

The guards, Mr. Haynes said, should challenge all strangers approaching a distillery or liquor warehouse and ascertain their business on the premises. Necessary arms for guards, he added, could be obtained through the main office here.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeannie Price

New York. — There is a fascination about old landmarks, whatever the reason for their being remembered. For instance, one block over in what used to be Chelsea Village, many, many years ago, and is still known as "Old Chelsea" always attracts a crowd because of two old houses standing there in the twenties, they are; one, where Edward Stokes shot "Jim" Flisk because of Josie Mansfield, and the other — of something the some sort of "romance" — the house that Freddie Gebhard, New York Society beau, built for the beautiful Lily Langtry, when she was at the height of her beauty and fame. The Langtry mansion, with its red brick facade, its mansard roof, and ornamental porch stands discreetly back from the street. In its day, it was an expulsive dwelling. Now the lower floor is rented for political meetings and the upper part is occupied by a family who let furnished rooms.

—NY—
The Charity Ball, which has been for 65 years an annual feature of society's schedule for the winter season, took in nearly $20,000 the other night for the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital, which is always its beneficiary. This was an unusually big year for the ball, its proceeds being close to its record in that respect.

—NY—
We have another shivery, thrilly, mystery and crime play, which, whether or not it ever reaches the hold that "The Bat" had on the public, will at least take its place among us to a considerable extent. It is "The Cat and the Canary," which opened the other night at the National Theater. It is spooky melodrama, with a lot of quaking people cooped up in a shadowy old house, while doors open by unseen hands and murdered men pitch headlong into the room from secret panels. Not the sort of play to see if one has an uneasy conscience or an empty house to go home to. But if one is free from these handicaps, it's rather enjoyable to have exactly that sort of an exciting evening once in a while. Henry Hull and Florence Eldridge make the play likeable as well as thrilling.

—NY—
From the picturesque little country of Andorra, in the Pyrenees, way to "prosals", commercial New York City, did this couple journey to find their romance. Juan Gonzales, late of Madrid and not of 171 West 75th street, Manhattan Island, loved and wooed Marie Parra, who lived in sunny Andorra. But the head of the Parra family refuse to sanction a betrothal and the future seemed hopeless. Then the Parras came to America, bringing the heartbroken Maria with them. By the time Juan could follow, he had lost all trace of her. But he followed just the same. He searched the country for his love, so far as he was able, and then, when the quest seemed hopeless, he saw her — on the screen! Motion picture directors had been struck with Maria's dancing and there she was, before 10 o'clock the next morning Juan had her address, had found her, and she was in his arms, at her home in the Spanish Colony of the city, 154 East 91st street. They are to be married without delay.

—NY—
Thank goodness, we have some definite word on the length of skirts for spring and summer, and twice thank goodness, that word is not for LENGTH. Nine inches from the floor was the verdict given at the Spring Fashion Review of the National Garment Retailers' Association, and it is a verdict that carries power. I can forgive the little flutings and panels and things they have put onto our "derby" clothes, just because they've been good enough not to hearken to the early rumors of instep skirts. The new color, it developed at the show, is Dandelion. Whether or not the popularity of the hue was in any way influenced by the popularity which that one time unloved flower has enjoyed in considerable circles these past three years was not made clear.

—NY—
More than 6,000 active Boy Scouts renewed their oath in Manhattan the other day on the occasion of the twelfth anniversary of the founding of their organization.

—NY—

Fancy nine thousand dollars worth of lingerie? In one shop? Thieves cut a hole through the cellar the other night and stole that much. It is too bad to have any sort of robbery, of course, but the thought of $9,000 of real money so appals me that the crime fades into insignificance.

Actual Statistics Prove We Have
"Turned the Corner" in Return To Normalcy.

Washington, D. C. — Julius H. Barnes, former wheat director, calling attention to the rise of wheat 12 cents and corn 2 cents in a week's period, says: "It is time to quit telling the farmer that he is bankrupt. It is time to quit telling industry that there is no farm market. All farm selling prices are on the upgrade."

The department of labor reports that returns from 1,428 factories, employing more than 500 persons each, indicate that an almost 5 per cent gain in employment has been made since the first of the year. Nearly all industries, outside of steel, textiles and railroads, increased their labor forces. In Detroit, center of the automobile industry, the increase was 8.9 per cent; in Sioux City, Iowa, 21 per cent. Chicago was listed with a 4 per cent improvement among 40 cities reporting increases.

The bureau of labor statistics reports that in the past 18 months there has been a 19.5 per cent. cost of living drop. A further fact comes to light through reports of automobile license offices, the purchasing of new cars being justly regarded as a barometer of good times. Maryland reports a 14 per cent. increase in January tag sales for 1922 over the total of 1921.

attendance of 550 farm men and women was reported for each day of the convention while the total number of farmers and their wives that attended the event was estimated at between 1,500 and 2,000.

Opportunities for instruction and discussion were offered in subjects dealing with livestock, poultry, potatoes, home making, dairying and rural life problems. Lectures and addresses were given by many prominent agricultural authorities as well as members of the College of Agriculture staff while a number of demonstrations by specialists and personal experience talks by practical farmers helped to make the 1922 meeting one of the best that has been held in the history of the convention.

Chief among the three night meetings, held for the first time this year, was the one on Wednesday night, when Aaron Sapiro, California, marketing expert, told the farmers how co-operative marketing is helping the farmers in many sections of the country eliminate some of the evils of present-day marketing.

Chief interest among those who were attracted by the livestock subjects was centered around the lectures and demonstrations given by J. P. Phillips, president of the Birmingham Packing Company, Birmingham, Ala., and the world's record beef dresser who has a record of nine minutes and 14 seconds in dressing two heaves. Other events on the livestock program were addresses by George Wilbur, president of the Ohio Wool Growers' Association, Marysville, O.; Neil B. Jones, a veterinarian and specialist on swine feeding from Washington Court House, O.; Charles E. Thorne, former director of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station; and V. E. Skinner, secretary of the National Dairy Show.

In one of their main meetings, the poultrymen heard C. L. Manwaring, a poultryman of Mentone, Ind., tell how he was able to make more than $10,000 a year from egg farming while the potato men confined their discussions to those on diseases, insects and the certification of seed.

Miss Sarah Louis Arnold, formerly of Simmons College, Boston, Mass., and a noted woman educator and writer, was the principal speaker on the women's program.

means of building up soils that have been worn out by continuous grain production is receiving more attention from Carlisle county farmers, a report from County Agent B. A. Hensley states. A total of 700 farmers and their wives recently attended a series of meetings held in connection with the movement.

Improvement of their home orchards is scheduled to receive considerable attention from Lee county farmers during the coming year, a report from county agent T. H. Jones indicates. Clayton Congleton, M. M. Estes and G. T. Perkins, will continue demonstrations which they have started to point out the value of certain prescribed orchard practices.

In the sixteenth century there was a curious law in England whereby street peddlers were forbidden to sell plums and apples, for the reason that servants and apprentices were unable to resist the sight of them, and were constantly tempted to steal their employers' money in order to enjoy the costly delicacies.
